

College Music Department Receives Full Accreditation In Nat'l Music Association

Music Department of Wartburg College, headed by Dr. Edwin Lienhorn, has now been accepted into full membership in the National Association of Schools of Music.

Lienhorn reported the accreditation to his fellow faculty members at Wartburg during the 13th annual meeting of NASM.

"Full membership in the National Association of Schools of Music is the goal toward which our efforts have been directed for a number of years," Lienhorn said.

"We are happy to know the standards of our department meet the exacting demands of this accrediting agency," said Lienhorn.

The association is comprised of 225 leading schools of music, located at 100 universities in the United States. It is the only accredited organization for music departments at colleges and universities in the country.

Five other Lutheran schools, Augustana, Bethany, Capital University, Concordia and Wittenberg, are member institutions.

Wartburg One Of Seven in Seven

Wartburg is one of only seven Iowa members of the organization. Others are Cornell, Drake, Morningside, Simpson, Iowa State Teachers and State University of Iowa. Miss Mattie Hamms, registrar, commented that the accreditation would be a great advantage to the school in attracting top-notch students of music to Wartburg.

Said Lienhorn, "My thanks to the students, administration and teachers for their efforts and fine co-operation in the examinations first for associate membership in 1953, and full membership last spring."

Order Union Kitchenware; $40,000 Bid To Aslesen Co.

An order for approximately $40,000 worth of equipment for the kitchen, cafeteria and Den of the new Student Memorial Union was placed with the Aslesen Company of Minneapolis following a meeting of the college Building Committee over the Christmas vacation.

During the Dec. 20 meeting the committee also discussed preliminary plans for a Fine Arts Building.

Commenting on the newly purchased kitchenware, Pres. C. H. Becker said, "About this fine equipment is installed in the Union, we should have one of it, located among these are five refrigerators.

Finished almost entirely in stainless steel, the fixtures have been designed to comply with all health and safety requirements now in law and any that may be added in the future.

The spacious, well-lighted kitchen, containing both a complete sink area and butcher shop in addition to the modern main preparation section, will draw supplies from four large, uniquely located storage rooms and two walk-in coolers.

Food will be dispensed from twin serving lines designed to speed up the handling of rush hour crowds. Students will dine in the large main dining room on the first floor and dishes will be returned through a series of slots to an enclosed delivery room. About eighty items have been ordered or already purchased by the college for the new Union, including among these are five refrigerators.

AFTER YEAR OF SUCCESSES

Becker Anticipates More Magnitude In '55

By Joan Meier
TRUMPET Feature Writer
"I'm looking forward to another year of fine cooperation by faculty and students to build a better Wartburg," anticipates Pres. H. C. Becker. He expects to reach an enrollment of 750.

However, because of the fine precedent set in 1954, Wartburgers are really being held to the record.

Dedication of Centennial Hall, new dormitory, highlighted one of the finest Homecomings in the history of Wartburg College. A successful Kaitie Kapers, spirited pep rally, giant parade, depressed Upper Iowa and the controversial performance of "Madame Butterfly" united with weather conditions to make the Homecoming memorable.

Educational standards were also raised by the accreditation by the American Association of Colleges of Teachers Educational.

"The fact that we started on the new Memorial Union as rapidly as we did was a highlight of 1954 for me," recalled H. C. Engelbrecht, assistant to the president. "The building is now about half completed."

"Wartburg reached an enrollment of seven hundred, which exceeded by at least five years our goal for enrollment," commented President Becker.

Staunch and sturdy Old Main had its face lifted. A newly shingled roof, freshly painted outside trim and a general outside check-over greatly improved the appearance of Old Main.

Many donations helped to make possible the construction of Centennial Hall and the new Memorial Union. Alumni contributed $10,000 toward furnishings in the dormitory. Schield Foundation and the Danforth Foundation gave $5,000 each toward the Union.

Another first in the history of Wartburg was the Fall Senior Day filled by Ray Norheim of the History Department.

Also initiated was the Fall Senior Day with an unexpected attendance of over two hundred. Because of the great success it will become an annual event.

The year 1955 will be for Wartburg what the students and faculty

Dr. Seegers Presents Library With Encyclopedia, 60 Books

Dr. Walter Seegers, professor of psychology at Wayne University, recently presented to the Wartburg College library a 1953 edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica together with approximately sixty other books.

A graduate of Wartburg Academy in 1927 and Wartburg Junior College in 1929, Dr. Seegers is presently chairman of the physiology and pharmacology departments of Wayne University. He was awarded an honorary doctor of science degree by Wartburg in 1953.

The 24 bound encyclopedias supplement the 1947 edition in the library. Dealing with science, art, literature and fields of general interest, the other books include the latest edition of the medical dictionary.

Typical examples of the donation are "A History of Medicine" and the initial volume of a new series entitled "The Solar System."

Speaking for Wartburg, Pres. C. H. Becker stated, "We are deeply grateful to Dr. Seegers for this splendid gift to his alma mater. The selection of books is excellent and will be of great service to the students and faculty for years to come."

Seegers Blood Authority
Seegers is considered one of the world's leading authorities in the study of the composition of blood. He received his B.A., M.S. and Ph.D. degrees at the State University of Iowa in 1931, '32 and '34.

Performing research work until 1942, Dr. Seegers was employed by the U.S. Public Health Service until 1945. He presented the Harvey Science Lectures and also the 10th annual George Brown Lecture for the American Heart Association. He is a member of the National Research Council in Washington.

Inspecting the books donated by Dr. Seegers to Wartburg College are librarians Miss Barbara Lazenby and Miss Ferné Lohr.

D. C. Miss Ferné Lohr, librarian, stated, "The value of such a gift cannot be overestimated. We should become more conscientious in realizing the importance of our library and particularly the importance of this gift."

Concert Tomorrow

Wartburg Community Symphony Orchestra featuring a guest soloist and a faculty member, will present its opening concert of the season tomorrow evening at 8:15 in Knights Gymnasium.

Originally scheduled for November, the concert was postponed because of bad weather. Ernest Hagen, conductor of the Wartburg College hand drums, will also perform.

Dr. E. A. Howard, Wartburg organ teacher and director of Castle Singers, will play his own composition "Concerto for Organ and Orchestra in G Minor."

Bokmeyer Featured Soloist
Marianna Bokmeyer will be the featured soloist. Her first number will be the aria "Duple in four" from Chopin's well-known opera "Louise." She will be continue with "Dedication" by Schumann and "Ich liebe dich" by Grieg. The orchestra will accompany her.

Mrs. Bokmeyer has studied voice with Queensa Mario and opera with Fritz Mahler at Julliard in New York City. In Chicago she studied with Philip Martin. She has also made radio, recital and concert appearances in several cities.

Rossmunde Opens Concert
The orchestra will begin the concert with "Rossmunde Overture" by Schubert, continuing with "Song of Jupiter" by Handel and "A Somerset Rhapsody" by Holst.

The string section will feature in Tchaikovsky's "Andante Cantabile." The second portion of the program will begin with "The Great Gate of Kiev" from Moussorgsky's suite "Pictures at an Exhibition."

Mrs. Bokmeyer will appear directly before the intermission. Concluding the program will be Dr. Hovdesen's "Concerto for Organ and Orchestra in G Minor."

Windhorn To Head Project As Senate Plans Fund Drive

By Cy Waincoat
News Editor, TRUMPET
Eldor Windhorn, junior, was elected 1955 Student Body Project chairman, and preliminary arrangements for getting the yearly fund raising drive under way were completed Wednesday evening in the second of two Student Senate sessions.

In other action the legislators named Senior Senator Guy Rose Senate representative on the Swing Show committee and discussed the progress of various campus reform movements, including cafeteria meal ticket plan, cut system revisions and proposed campus segregation.

Commenting on his selection to head the drive, Windhorn, president of the student body, said, "It's going to be a lot of work to raise enough money for the project, but I think that the students will do a fine job of it."

Problem in drawing up the standards and procedures for the creation of the actual scholarship has been turned over to the Faculty Scholarship Committee. Wilmut Fruelshing, chairman of that group, and Dick Lehman, junior, will serve on it while the project scholarship is under consideration. The project will be a major item of business at the next Student Body meeting Thursday Jan. 27, and if the final arrangements are approved by the students, the drive is expected to begin at that time.

$124 in Show Fund
In naming Rose to the Swing Show committee, the Senate noted that only $124 remains in the fund for the April variety show. Sophomore Gary Volberding will direct the production.

Senate recommendation of a five-point modified meal ticket plan is slated to come to the faculty before the Student Welfare Committee Monday night.

At that time the faculty-student committee, described by Chairman Earnest Oppermann, dean of students as "clearing house for student problems," can either act or refer the matter to the faculty in the college or return it, unacted upon, to the Senate.

Pres. C. H. Becker left for Washington, D.C. this morning to attend the chairman of the National Lutheran Education Conference.

Sunday he will deliver a paper on "Education for Character" to the conference. The NLEC, which includes all four-year Lutheran colleges in the country, will hold its meetings in the Stalter Hotel.

Monday through Thursday President Becker will attend the meeting of the Association for American Colleges.

AN OPEN LETTER TO WARTBURG COLLEGE

New Year's baby is already eight days old. However, it's still not too late to take a personal inventory of 1954 and see how the credits and debits balance. As we each take this check, one item should stand near the top of everybody's credit list—friends and friendship. This is often overlooked, but recent experience has impressed it indelibly on my mind.

To someone flat on his back, the drab blanket of loneliness, predecessor to utter boredom, lies heavy as sheetmetal on a hospital patient. Then a nurse enters the room with a handful of mail—mail for you—and all that weight is transformed into an inner, explainable warmth.

You realize that you have friends, and as envelopes come open, you know that you have never been alone and never will be. Then you suddenly learn the meaning of true friendship, and your hospital room with all its medicines, thermometers and hypodermic needles becomes a place you know you'll be able to stand at least a while longer.

Friendliness—love and loyalty woven together in a common faith in the Almighty God—there is no substitute and no better medicine.

For all this I owe many humble and sincere thank you's. To make them all personal is a physical impossibility.

Therefore, the first note of appreciation is to the TRUMPET staff and its advisor. The pride and gratitude I felt for Ken Stark and the whole staff when I received my Christmas issue of "The Voice of the Campus" put into words. I can only say that if that paper was any indication of next year's TRUMPET, Wartburg College can expect a top-flight paper next year.

The college administration, staff and faculty get the second note of appreciation. The prayers and help they gave to both my parents and me will never be forgotten.

Last in this trilogy of gratitude is the entire student body. The thoughts behind all the cards, novelties, letters, flowers and baskets of fruit that were received from individuals and groups will be cherished for many years to come.

There's a special note that comes in here, for the attention of the prime jewel in Wartburg Hall's crown was the best medicine of all.

Thank you . . . gratitude . . . appreciation . . . no matter what is used, it seems to show only the inadequacy of the English language. However, the thoughts are there, and they are humbly sincere.

Thank you.

Footnotes To Faith:

Parents, Teachers Advised

By Martin Luther
As Compiled by
The Rev. W. G. Tillmans

(Selected for the future parents or teachers to come out of Wartburg) Gather the harvest while the sun shines and the weather is fair, use the Grace and the Word of God while they are near. For know this, that the Grace and the Word of God are like passing shadows which does not return where it has once been.

On Parents: Let every parent know that it is his first and his duty to bring up his children in the fear and knowledge of God. If the Kingdom of God is to come in power, we must begin with the children, and teach them from the cradle. No one should be a parent unless he is able to instruct his children in the Ten Commandments and the Gospel.

Don't Neglect Children

No greater harm can be done than neglect one's children, and to let them do as they please. Parents who are not free to bring up their child as you wish are not fit to be parents. Parents who let their children grow up without proper instruction, bring about their own ruin. Bring up your children in the fear and knowledge of God. Give them first to God.

The soul can do without everything except the Word of God. When it has the Word of God, it needs nothing more. A false love often blinds parents that they regard the body of their child more than his soul. In my judgment there is no other outward offense than in the sight of God so heavily burdens the world, as the neglect to educate our children.

Train Children Of Others
On Teachers: One of the highest virtues on earth is to train the children of others. Next to this ministry teaching is the greatest office. In a town a teacher has as much responsibility as a minister. The teacher's speech should be born, not in his mouth, but in his heart. . . . The teacher should accustom himself to intelligible words which are in common use.

But you should not only consider the words in your heart, but examine them, diligently as they are written in the Word, that you may arrive at the meaning of the Holy Ghost. Christ, when He wished to draw men, was obliged to become man. If we are to draw children, we must become children with them. In teaching children use simplicity and repetition.

Avoid Changes In Text

Avoid all changes and variations in the text and the wording of the Lord's Prayer, the Creed, and the Sacraments. . . . God has preserved the words of His children. Where Holy Scriptures are not the rule, I advise no one to send his child.

The teacher should impress upon the children these truths that are precious to right living as the fear of God, faith and good works. Allow ample time for the lesson. A foolish teacher, who faithfully trains children, can never be sufficiently recompensed, and no money will pay him.

The right instruction of children is a matter in which Christ and all the world are concerned. Children should be taught to know the Lord Jesus, and what He has promised to His children who are instructed, are the seed of the church.

NATIONAL NOTIONS

By Stan Bender

Frenchmen Guard Against Isolation

France, a dwindling power in the Big Three, has been saved from isolation and complete loss of face by a belated act approving the acceptance of Germany into the NATO alliance and the rearmament of Germany within this group.

This approval has not been achieved without a struggle. The bill proposing the acceptance of Germany into the NATO alliance was first rejected by the French National Assembly. Only when Premier Mendes-France made this issue a vote of confidence and strong pleas were made to put the good of the country ahead of the party politics which encumber the assembly was a majority obtained.

These bills are the descendants of a long line of bills, each of which proposed, in different terms, measures. Each succeeding bill has combined more concessions to the French point of view and more safeguards against the future might of Germany.

A settlement on the Saar, which was to the German point of view much in France's favor and for which Chancellor Adenauer has received severe criticism, was one of the chief concessions.

Observers were quick to speculate on when the Allies would lose patience with these French politicians. Sharp, severe criticism has been leveled against the French Assembly by France's allies. Threats were made, chief among which was rearmament of Germany without France.

The French Deputies have continually looked into the past and have found adequate reasons for rejecting the proposals. They remember the Frenchmen who died in the German invasion. In the end it was not the appeal of acquiescence to United States or British views, but the prospect of France being in a better bargaining position with Russia plus the confidence vote which turned the tide.

The reluctance of France has cost her prestige and power. More and more the thought of the Big Two, United States and Britain, and not the Big Three, is in the West. Can France be trusted in the crucial moment? Can the precarious nature of the French National Assembly be predicted?

The final acceptance was achieved with less also. Mendes-France drained a part of his political blood in the effort of pushing the approval through. Whereas he is still to be blamed for the German rearmament if the French voters are still touchy about this subject when the next national election comes around.

Now only 11 more NATO acceptances to go.

A new year. A new tie for Christmas. Same old classes. The vacation, however, was a relaxing grid. . . . I worked. Then there was New Year's Eve. I really shied for you about the fellow I met on that ribbon-throwing act missing night of quiet.

I'd just come out of the local establishment. Well, it wasn't really that bad. The middle of the night. I was there. I was parked. I got about to the corner of the block and there was the fellow on his hands and knees searching intently through the gutter.

Does something? I asked, trying to be friendly and start the New Year out with kindness.

"Yeah sir," he answered. "Lost a quarter."

I got down on my hands and knees and looked for about 15 minutes, but I couldn't find it either. Then he asked him, "Are you sure you dropped it here?"

"Yeah," he replied. "I dropped it way over there."

"That's nice," I said. "Maybe we could find it easier if we went over there."

"Here," he sighed. "There's no flashlight over there."

I think it's nice to be practical, but then perhaps it can be overcome. I know if we used all eight doors to get out of the gym after exams, they would wear out very soon.

"I know," he replied. "I know just how we could use four of them, maybe, huh?" It does seem like a terrible waste of doors with the stop to think about it. Sorta like playing basketball with the balls rolled in the elbow.

In order to get the new semester, year etc., off to a pessimistic start, I will quote a quote without quoting the author, "The pessimist is complaining. There is no such thing as happiness. . . . only brief moments when the intense happiness of life."

Now there's a happy thought for all of you pessimists. If, however, you are one of the few who number under the heading of optimists, you can repeat the quote to say, "There is no such thing as happiness. . . . only brief moments when the intense happiness of life."

Axmen Avenge Earlier Loss To Parsons

Hold Second Place With Slate Of 4-1 As Unbeaten Central Heads Loop Play

By Stan Vogel
TRUMPET Sports Writer

Sweet revenge was gained here last night as the Knights squeezed by Parsons in a hectic conference basketball tilt in Knights Gymnasium.

Losing only to Parson earlier in the season, Warburg now has a 4-1 IAC record and is running a close second to undefeated Central in the nine team conference race.

New life was given Warburg and other conference schools when it was revealed that Luther, last year's champions, forfeited two wins because an ineligible player was used in the contests.

Knights Hit Lower Par Cent

Although winning by nine points, 85-76, the Axmen hit only 29 percent of their shots as compared to 38 for Parsons. But the Knights, grabbing 42 offensive rebounds, threw up 106 shots and hit 31 of them, three more than Parsons made on 73 attempts.

The Knights started slowly and trailed by three with the game seven minutes old. At this point Maynard Midgland, high scorer for Warburg with 20 points, entered the game and dropped in the quick buckets and sparked Warburg to a 42-35 halftime lead.

Parsons Never-Say-Die

Parsons never came within six points of the Knights thereafter, although continually threatening. At one time they trailed by 12 as Warburg showed superiority in controlling the boards. By the game's end, the Knights had cleaned off 72 rebounds.

Warburg set a new field house record last Tuesday night, rallying in the second half for 31 points in less than nine minutes to break up a mind-buckling game with Upper Iowa University and go on to win, 52-35.

Little guard Art Margheim hit seven straight field goals to lead the attack. Holding a slim 44-42 advantage at intermission, the Knights led 75-60 with 1:10 left and stretched the margin to 82 points, 89-67, with 4:30 to go.

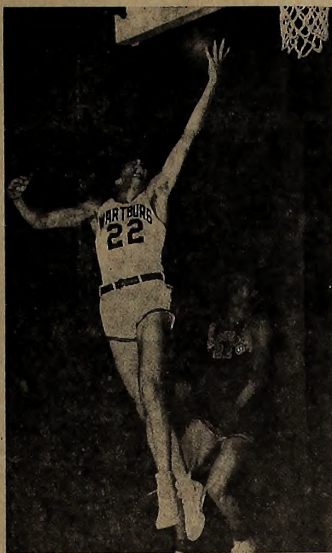

Bob Adix with 24 points was high for the game. Margheim finished the evening with 20 points on 10 of 14 shots for a percentage of 73.

Knights grapplers will go into action for the first time this year when they meet Augustana at Rock Island, Ill., this afternoon at 2.

This year's musclemen lack power because of the lack of depth. With only seven men out, they are especially short in the lighter weights and will have to forfeit in the 130-pound class. Minor injuries and flu have also taken their toll.

Cochi Norm Johansen stated, "It is an excellent opportunity for anyone interested in participating in wrestling to come out. We particularly need small men who can wrestle at 137 pounds and down."

He further stated, "It's rather discouraging to the rest of the boys to have to go into a match with a five-point deficit because we're short of men."

Thomas Carlyle penned these words to Johann Wolfgang Goethe just after he traveled to a place called Croggenputtock to find a new way of life.

Fortunately, today people don't need to follow Carlyle's example to assure them of a large measure of security. A good life insurance plan can do that for anyone.

You really aren't required to have life insurance or any other security to "remain true to yourself," but it does help. When one has made certain of his family's protection and his own future, temptation to make a quick and easy dollar is put far away. By investing in a life insurance program, any young man or woman buys time to build a solid future.

Luther's Defending Camps Face Wartburg In Decorah

By Dale Kopitzke
TRUMPET Sports Writer

Traveling to Decorah on Tuesday night, the Knight bucknons will tangle with Luther College, defending champion of the Iowa Conference.

This year's Norse team has lost the overall speed it has had in previous years and is below average in height. Although losing five of the first six players on last year's team, the Norsemen appear headed for another good season.

Wolsted Returning

Forward Dwayne Wolsted is the only returning member of the first year. Another forward, Larry Lake, has returned from service to bolster the Norse attack.

Other lettermen returning are Wilson Wilson, a good scoring center; David Egan and John Spetzka, guards; and forwards David Davis and Conrad Tillard.

Continuing on the road, the Axmen will meet Grinnell in a non-conference tilt Saturday night.

Winter Grinnell Lost

The biggest loss in Grinnell's hardcourt picture was Job Winters, 6'8" all-conference center. The Farmers sport a shorter, more inexperienced team.

John Musser, another all-conference performer, has switched from forward to center this year. He was one of the high scorers last season.

Bounding out the starting five are guards Dick Crowl and Vic Ransberger and forwards Harry Brown and Dick von Maur.

North Hall, Saints Pace 'Mural Action

Intramural action for the past week saw North Hall's Ambassadors set the pace in the American League while in the National League Waverly II and the Saints share the top spot.

The Ambassadors, winning three straight games, outclassed the TC crew Tuesday night by a 23-20 count. Monday they breezed by the Cavaliers, 22-15.

Edging the Grossmann II quintet, 32-31, and scratching Parsons, 43-31, this time the Saints hung even with the Waverly II squad which was pounding Grossmann II, 32-29, and Elson, 27-22, in National League play.

John Kuper, senior and Parsons, sophomore, led the week's scoring department with a high game of 21 points. Close behind were Charlie Maas, freshman and Dick Brandt, junior, as both flipped in 20 tallies apiece.

If the Knight continue the torrid pace which they have been setting so far this season, they will be the authors of a new revised version of the college's basketball record book.

The last few weeks, five college teams were shattered and one died. Other records are sure to fall.

The Noverville Jaycees tourney was the most dramatic in Wartburg's basketball history. After dropping its opener, 68-70, to Indiana Central, Wartburg splurged for 102 points in the New England Conference game.

High by a Knight outfit was the 97 points scored in a 52-33 overtime loss to Lora.

It was the most points scored by the Knights in a single game. It was also probably the most ever garnered by a Manchester crew which emerged victorious, clicking the scoreboard for 107 tallies. The bulk of total points gathered by two teams also was cranked.

An amazing total of 77 misses was called in the wild melee with the Knights cashing in on 48 of 68 chances at the free throw line. This rubbed out the mark of 32 free losses in a 42-53 contest with Luther.

The same night Mark Adix inscribed his name in the record book beside his brother Bill's when he connected on 13 charity throws, flying Bill's mark of most free throws converted in a game, which he set equal to in 1927.

The 208 markers tallied by the two teams established a new mark for the Noverville fieldhouse. Undoubtedly 122 free shots attempted by the two teams also set some sort of new high.

Returning to their own stomping grounds last Tuesday, the Knights continued on their scoring rampage, lambasting Upper Iowa, 92-75. The 92 counters created a new mark for most points scored by a team in Knights Gym. That evening the Axmen took to the field for their first game, they registered 40 more shots from the field, bettering the 30 scored by the 1952 team against Loras.

Other marks fairly certain of being cracked are most team free throw records for season and team points for a season. Adix, who last week ranked 20th in scoring for small colleges throughout the nation, has an excellent chance of improving on some of his brother's records.

Several issues back, Agonistes erroneously stated that a dozen or so years ago "the Axmen dropped 37 consecutive low-scoring games." Obviously this infers that Ax was at the helm of this outfit, but therein lies the mistake. The coach of that outfit, for some reason, asked that his name be withheld.

As came to Wartburg in 1947 and since then has compiled 81 Knight wins as opposed to 63 losses. This includes an Iowa Conference crown in 1951-52. Turnblist's obitology go to Ax.

Keglers Set Marks Wednesday Night

Retraining from the Christmas vacation, Wartburg keglers set a torrid pace Wednesday night at the local lanes, smacking two previous season records, while a third survived by only a close margin.

Leslie leading Cedar Lawn Motel won three games from Waverly Bowl Inn, while Larry's Blasted Top Hat four games and Meyer's Drug turned back Bies Hilton three games out of four.

Walter Vockes of Waverly Bowl Inn watched his season high game of 227 threatened precariously as freshman Arnon Desjardis of Lesly's Standard, a newcomer to the Wartburg Bowlers, blazed the alleys with a 212 game to tie high game honors for the evening.

Cedar Lawn Motel, again took highcricers honors for the evening with a 514, while Ed Deines, playing for Larry's Standard, and Vockes, rolled a 503 and 500 for the night.

Larry's Standard, buried in the cellar with Bowl Inn, took team honors Wednesday night. After two new season records, Larry's racked up a high game of 825, to surpass Bowl Inn's previous high of 820, and also rolled a 2,263 high series, which also bettered the Inn's previous high mark of 2,244.

'W' Club Disciplines With Oil, Onions

By Bob Lolo

That ominous clanging sound in the halls is evidence enough that "W" Club initiation is here again.

With oil tans on their legs, uniforms on their suits and black 'W's scrawled across their faces, prospective members must undergo a week of humiliation before being accepted into one of Wartburg's most progressive organizations.

With 6-4 Won-Lost Record Knight Quintet Threatening To Rewrite Record Books

By Stan Vogel
TRUMPET Sports Writer

Although Wartburg's won-loss slate of 6-4 doesn't indicate it, this year's quintet could end up being the record-breaking outfit in a long time. The Knights are staging a complete overhauling and revamp job of school record books.

Four records have already been erased and if Bob Adix and company keep their scoring machine primed, there will be at least a few more added to the list.

Adix is certain to pull down scoring honors, and a few school marks may be in the bundle. A place with Wartburg's basketball elite is already reserved for the 6'4" Manchester senior alongside brother Bill, former hardwood ace who holds 11 of Wartburg's individual scoring records.

Adix, No. 20 Nationally
Bob, bow's No. 1 scorer and No. 20 among the nation's small colleges in the latest release, dropped in 15 free throws in a 79-83 loss to Indiana Central in the opening round of the Noverville Jaycees tourney last Wednesday to equal Bill's single-game output.

Adix
Bill's scoring monopoly may be disturbed even more by his young brother before the end of the 1955 game season. Bob's 26.4 point per game average will be a sure bet to top one of the marks and if he keeps melting them at his post, he may surpass the most points made during one season.

In the second game of the holiday tourney against Manchester, Bob fell one shy of the field goal record, connecting on 15 shots and netting 45 points, the highest of his career and only six short of a record.

The eye-catcher of that game, though, was the final score, 102-107. It isn't often that a team breaks a scoring record and still loses. But Wartburg has a knack for that. Its previous high was 97 in a losing overtime battle to Loras a few years ago.

Scores Increase
Scores around the nation seem to increase every year. The one one-and-one free throw rule gets most of the blame and sometimes with good reason. In that record-shattering game last week the Knights edged to the final 83 times and capitalized on no less than 48 of them to better the school record 38 per cent.

Rule or no rule, Wartburg has been racking up the points. In nine games the Axmen have averaged 80.5 points. Undoubtedly, their opponents have been just as canny with a 79-point average.

Last Tuesday, when breaking their fieldhouse record against Upper Iowa, the Knights poured in 40 buckets and recorded only 12 charity tosses in their 92-75 loop victory.

Bluffton Changes Class Attendance Policy

Bluffton, O. (I.P.) Recently adopted policies of class attendance at Bluffton College were announced here by Dean Robert Kreider.

The new plan, Dean Kreider explained, involves a simplification of checking attendance and reduces the amount of paper work. He said this method would provide essential information about absenteeism and will provide for a better check of illness.

Under the new system absences will be reported to the dean's office by the student upon his return to class, and the dean's office will be responsible for keeping a record of unexcused absences.

The greatest changes in the new system will be found in the methods of penalizing absences. Instead of deducting credit for excessive absence the number of hours required for graduation will be increased. One hour will be added to graduation requirements for every eight unexcused absences per semester.

Two unexcused tardies are equal to one absence. Similarly, two unexcused excused absences are equal to one absence. Class attendance immediately before and after vacations has been tightened by the new rulings. Unexcused absences on the two days before and after vacations will be penalized by the fine of five dollars for the first absence and one dollar for each additional class or chapel absence. The provision will be applied to students enrolled in courses in the 300 level and above, Dean Kreider stated. In these higher level courses the instructors will set their own standards of attendance and the students will be responsible to the individual instructor.

The closer regulation of courses on the lower-class levels is aimed at improving freshmen scholarships and helping the freshmen form better college habits. Once the students have reached junior standing they have formed better study habits, according to Dean Kreider, and are better able to take the responsibility of regular class attendance.

This new system is an outgrowth of widespread abuse of the old system of class attendance and discontent with the system under which more than fifty students lost one or more hours of credit last year. Dean Kreider said that part of the new system was adopted from the attendance policies of Ohio Wesleyan University and other schools.

Warburg Homecoming balloons are now international in character. For the first time they have been returned that has crossed the northern boundary into Canada.

A balloon released by Andy Polis, Albert Lea, Minn., and brother of sophomore John Polis, was found by O. R. Currie, Victoria, Ontario, Canada.

Currie stated that he had found the balloon while plowing.

Dewald, Wiebe Attend Missionary Convention As 2,000 Delegates Crowd Illinois Camps

Oliver Dewald and Gloria Wiebe, sophomorees, were Warburg delegates to the Fourth Student Missionary Convention at Urbana, Ill., during vacation.

They were two of more than 2,000 delegates who crowded all available facilities of the University of Illinois camps during their Christmas vacation.

Delegates came from universities, colleges, Bible institutes and seminaries in all parts of the United States and Canada. About 150 of them were from over forty foreign countries.

This is the fourth of such student gatherings to be sponsored by the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship and its affiliated groups, Student Foreign Missions Fellowship and Nurses Christian Fellowship.

In addition to 141 missionaries, representing both denominational and interdenominational boards, a score of church leaders from a number of countries took part in the program.

Mission-minded students had a chance to hear special panels on missionary work in different world areas and in various lines of work. They engaged in discussions on missionary methods and preparation and the opportunities for Christian service in many lands.

In regard to the value of the convention, Dewald stated, "I only wish more of our students could have attended. A convention like this shakes one out of his complacency."

Carnation Milk Co. Presents Donation

The Carnation Milk Company National Foundation presented a check of $1000 to Warburg College last Wednesday, according to Pres. C. H. Becker.

R. E. Phillips, general manager of the Iowa fresh milk division of Carnation Company, gave the unrestricted gift to the college. Phillips stated that the Waverly and Waterloo branches have benefited from the educational program at Warburg and were happy to do something for the school in return.

Director of Public Relations Norm Fintel said the $1000 would probably be put into the building fund.

Dickson, Volberding Attend Convention

Charles Dickson, speech department head, and Gary Volberding, KWAR station manager, represented Warburg at the annual convention of the Speech Association of America, at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago, Dec. 26-30.
